

Old King Tut Is to Hold Open House This Year Again; Cruise Tourists to Throng Scenes of Ancient Empires

ENTRANCE TO TOMB OF TUTANKHAMEN

SPHINX

The interest excited by the continued discovery of marvelous treasures at the Tomb of Tutankhamen, is making Egypt the particular star of the winter traveler, and from January to March the Nile promises to be about as fascinating as the United States. Fortunately are those who have secured hotel reservations in Cairo during the season, that is, from January to March. Among the fortunate are those who are booked by the large winter cruise steamers to the Mediterranean, for hotel accommodations for their passengers probably a year ago.

Within the past decade the Canadian Pacific has become a great factor in ocean transportation. Its ships are the fastest on the Pacific, and by using the St. Lawrence route it has cut the time to four days on open sea for the Atlantic crossing. With wide experience in catering to a big traveling public, it has reached the very apex of good service.

The Canadian Pacific has this year selected for its Mediterranean cruise the S. S. Empress of Scotland, a palatial, oil-burning vessel of 25,000 gross tons and 677 feet long. There are twelve first class public rooms including lounge, ballroom, card, writing and smoking rooms, besides a fine palm garden. From the first port of call at Madeira, where a ball has been arranged for the Scotland's passengers, to the short call at Cherbourg, where they may choose whether to take train to Paris or continue on to Southampton, the tourists will be personally conducted through the most interesting cities of North Africa, the Holy Land, Greece, Turkey, Italy and Portugal. The tomb of Tutankhamen, the pyramids, the Holy Sepulcher, Acropolis in Athens and Coliseum and Vatican in Rome, are a very few of the famous sites that will be visited.

Our baby booth which is always so attractive and beautiful will be under the direction of Mrs. Blake Forrest. Her helpers have been busy making articles and needless to say you will find anything you desire in this line.

We have added a new department this year which is proving quite popular and Mrs. E. T. Measles is chairman of our Market. Here you will find dressed chickens, home made cakes, bread, yard eggs, and fresh butter, in fact you will be charmed with this department.

Mrs. John Sweatt assisted by our attractive young matrons and young ladies will be delighted to serve you with a tempting and delicious lunch of home made chili and other good things. By no means do we intend to forget the children. Mrs. Sam Cox is planning a surprise for each of them so be sure and bring them with you. If we have failed to get in touch with you and you are interested you can get no greater service than contribute cash or articles to be sold. Be sure your articles are sent to Mrs. Roy Bass, corner McKinney and Carthage streets by December 1st. If you can not send them phone one of our chairmen and a committee will call on you. Remember the time and the place.

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 27.—A local first national bank was robbed here one night recently of $45 in cash. Stede Bell Warren, owner of the bank, reported the theft to police.

"Yep," Belle said, "I had forty-five dollars in my sock when I went to dance with my sweet man. I don't know just when it was 'took,' but told detectives."

Mexia Welcome New Family From Hill County

John T. Sanders of Hill County family will move to Mexia at an early date. Announcement is made that Mr. Sanders has closed a deal for the E. J. Anderson home on East Carthage street, which will hereafter be the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and family. Next week is the date scheduled for their arrival here. Mr. Sanders is one of the most prominent citizens of Hill County, a sterling character who has shown his citizenship at all times. He believes that nation should begin at home and his contribution to progress in his section has been notable.

For a number of years he has been engaged in the cotton buying business in Hubbard and Coolidge and the splendid cotton markets there are said to have been due in no small way to his efforts. He will probably devote his attention to the same line of business here. Already possessing many friends here who have been anxious for him to move to Mexia, he and his estimable family are certain to win many more.

It will be remembered by "old timers" in this community that Mrs. Sanders was prior to her marriage Miss Bess Denning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Denning. They have one child, Johnnie, a splendid little man of nearly 4 years. Attracted by magnificent churches, an excellent school system, modern improvements of all kinds and a hospitable citizenship, many splendid citizens are constantly moving to this place, establishing it permanently as a real home center and one of the leading cities of this section of Texas. To all of them Mexia says, "Welcome."

NEW SURE WAY TO END BILIOUSNESS

Torpid Liver Fills Body With Poisons—Pepsinated Calomel Guaranteed to Relieve Between Sundown and Sunup—No Nausea.

Calomel is the only medicine that will actually reach the liver, but ordinary calomel is so drastic that many have deprived themselves of its fine effects because of its harshness. This objection has been overcome in Pepsinated Calomel. Many who formerly could not take calomel are finding a most acceptable remedy in Pepsinated Calomel because it is English Calomel (which doctors recognize as the standard of purity), treated with pepsin and other soothing ingredients that not only stimulate the liver to normal action, but sweeten the stomach and aid digestion. Many report that the use of Pepsinated Calomel unclogs their systems of poisonous waste, brings back appetite, causes dullness to disappear and makes them "feel like new!" Bennett's Drug Store and all reliable druggists recommend and guarantee Pepsinated Calomel to bring relief between sundown and sunup or your money refunded. Try it—we guarantee you'll feel better tomorrow. (Adv.)

Can't Be Fair Picking All-American.

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—There may be one good excuse for picking an all-American football team, but there are a dozen reasons against that one why the best qualified critics should not attempt the impossible task of selecting the eleven best players from eleven hundred.

The most common excuse is that: "I might as well do it, because others do it, and my judgment is just as good." Because Walter Camp gets away with it there are a hundred who try to do the same thing.

All the reasons have been pointed out many times in the past why it means nothing to name an all-American team.

It is impossible for one critic to see all the teams in action. One player looks great on Saturday and the next week he is off. Various methods employed by various coaches bring out a mediocre player and obscure a fine player. Backs of only fair ability shine because they have a great line. "Taken 'em out" in front of them.

Picking an all-American team is manifestly unfair to hundreds of the fine players who for mathematical reasons, cannot be named on the first team and it is only the first team that really counts.

Here's the best reason why an all-American team cannot and should not be picked.

That this team, which is advanced as an all-American eleven, is as good as many that will be picked:

LE.—Luman, Yale.
LT.—Miltend, Yale.
LG.—Welsh, Colgate.
C.—Garbisch, Army.
RG.—Gendens, Penn State.
RT.—Baeh, Notre Dame.
RE.—McRae, Syracuse.
QB.—Pfann, Cornell.
LHB.—Grance, Illinois.
RHB.—Wilson, Penn State.
FB.—Layden, Notre Dame.
Can you pick a team as good? You certainly can!

Here's one:

LE.—Frank, Penn State.
LT.—Oberst, Notre Dame.
LG.—Aachenbach, Dartmouth.
C.—Loewig, Yale.
RG.—Brown, Notre Dame.
RT.—Sunstrom, Cornell.
RE.—Florence, Georgetown.
QB.—Sagelreier, Notre Dame.
LHB.—Koppisch, Columbia.
RHB.—Miller, Notre Dame.
FB.—Tyon, Colgate.
Can you pick another one as good as these two?

You certainly can!

Here's another one:

LE.—Seery, Lafayette.
LT.—Eastman, Harvard.
LG.—Hubbard, Harvard.
C.—Eckstein, Brown.
RG.—Lawick, Army.
RT.—Widerquist, Washington and Jefferson.
RE.—Walter, Rutgers.
QB.—Workman, Ohio State.
LHB.—Dumce, Marquette.
RHB.—Mallory, Yale.
FB.—Wyckoff, Georgia Tech.

The surface barely has been touched for these three teams. Three more, beyond all doubt, could be picked that would be good enough to give a great fight to the best any expert should name.

Packers Tell How Housewives Should Select Their Meat

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Sirloins, tenderloins, porterhouse steaks and rib roasts would be, comparatively, a drug on the market if housewives were only more familiar with cheaper cuts of beef, according to the National Livestock and Meat Board here.

One fourth of a carcass of dressed beef costs more retail than the other three-fourths, say the packers, and cheaper cuts are much more savory when properly prepared than expensive steaks and roasts. Rump roasts, hamburger and roundsteak should not be despised but exalted, the board holds.

The effort to secure "choice" cuts and not the high cost of raising, shipping, packing and marketing meat is held responsible for meat selling at 40 to 60 cents a pound. If there were more demand for "second" cuts, comparative costs would be equalized, the board claims.

Loins and rib cuts are classified as choice. They are in most demand because they are easier to prepare rather than because of tenderness and flavor. On the other hand, shanks, rounds, rumps, flanks, chuck and brisket require longer cooking to be as palatable as the steak which can be cooked by the "busy" housewife after an afternoon of bridge. The fireless cooker is recommended to remedy that.

Nor should the heart, kidneys, liver, tongue—even the tail—be neglected. These are preferred by the epicures when properly cooked. On tail soups, liver, hearts, brains, and sweetbreads supply the needed mineral matter, according to the board, and should be included frequently in the family menu. "Iron" and "calves' brains" are synonymous, it avers.

Careful study of meat charts, personal trips to market, experiment with "undiscovered" cuts and preparing meat in a variety of ways are recommended, both for trimming the family budget and improving the family's health.

In selecting the best meat, the board's bulletin offers the following guide:

Beef—Firm of even texture, bright red in color and streaked or "marbled" with fat, through the lean flesh. The meat should be white or cream color.

Vent—Less firm than beef and pink in color, with little "marbling".

Pork—Dark pink in color, with the fat less hard than beef's suet.

Lamb—Pale or a light, dull red, and firm. The fat should be firm and creamy white.

Mutton—Darker red and the fat slightly tinged with yellow.

Four Special Trains To Carry Texas University Students To Thanksgiving Game at A. & M.

Members of the ex-student association of the University of Texas in the section have received the following instructions and information regarding the day to be spent in College Station Thursday.

Thanksgiving Rally at College Station.

The four special trains from Austin are scheduled to roll into College Station at 11:30 a. m., Thanksgiving Day. Led by the famous Longhorn Band and Cowboys, the student body and faculty will march directly to Texas headquarters in Guion Hall, on the east side of the campus, near Kyle Field. Here the students will seat themselves in the gallery while the Exes will occupy the main auditorium.

—all coming for a final get-together rally. Judge D. C. Bland, president of the Exes, will preside and "Shorty" Mayer will lead the yell.

The following program will be carried out:

1. Touchdown Speech by President W. S. Sutton, 6 minutes (and no more.)
2. Kick for goal. Yells, "Shorty" Mayer and others, 1 minute.
3. Touchdown Speech, Cecil Chamberlin (for the students), 6 minutes (and no more.)
4. Same as No. 2, 1 minute.
5. Touchdown Speech—old-time and fiery alumnus, 6 minutes (and no more.)
6. Same as Nos. 2 and 4, 1 minute.
7. The "Eyes of Texas" (Goal from field)—everybody, 3 minutes. Total—24 minutes.

Guion Hall is a very large auditorium. The stage and ante-rooms in rear of the building are being reserved for the women, while the basement in front contains wash-rooms, etc., for men. President Bizzell and Com-mandant Ike Ashburn have kindly provided additional chairs, tables and other comforts for the spacious entry of the building and also on the shaded stand will be run for those who prefer to snatch a hasty meal before or after the game.

President Bland and other Ex-Student officers will be in charge of an information bureau and a register where it is hoped that every Ex-Student visitor will inscribe his name. Here at Guion Hall will be the best place to look for some University friend you haven't seen for a long time.

Many visitors will bring their lunches—not a bad plan, for the biggest crowd that has ever been on the A. & M. campus will gather there on this Thanksgiving Day. Come on, and don't fail to attend the rally. Those Exes who wish to know in advance about the result of the game are referred to Coach Bible of the A. & M. and Coach Stewart of the University. Judging from newspaper reports, the game is made up of a bunch of crit- tles.

Massive New Tower of Commerce to Pierce the Chicago Skyline

A sky-piercing tower, is about to rise among the huge structures of Chicago.

It is the new fifteen million dollar Straus building on Michigan avenue and Jackson boulevard, which will be completed about March 1 and ready for occupancy two months later. The main shaft of the massive towering structure will rise to a height of twenty-two stories. Then it will carry a ten-story tower centered on Michigan avenue. The structure will take the form of a hollow square, built around the perimeter of the lot with an inside light court, surrounded by offices. The best examples of Florentine architecture will be followed. The building will be of beautiful Indiana limestone of which the nation's most artistic and imposing banks and office buildings are constructed. On the Michigan avenue side the center section, about 80 feet across, will be set back two or three feet from the line of the corner sections and carried up into the great tower. This setback will break the Michigan avenue front, adding a note of distinction.

There will be 400,000 square feet of rentable office space besides the six floors occupied by S. W. Straus & Co., the owners. The giant structure, of which Graham, Anderson, Probst & White are the architects, will be the largest building on the superb Michigan avenue skyline, and one of the finest examples of office building architecture in the world.

OIL

Freestone County's "simon-pure" wildcat well—the Thad McLain No. 1 Green cemented casing Monday using the seventy-two hour "quick set." This well has been showing considerable gas and after bailing it was thought best to cement for safety's sake. Drilling in will be begun the latter part of the week.

The Ketchi Petroleum Company in their Pickens No. 1 20 miles east of Teague continues to look very promising. This well is in the Pruitt survey in Freestone County and is the second test drilled by this company. The No. 1 Pickens is reported at about 3800 feet with considerable showing of oil, gas and paraffine. Trouble with tools in the hole has caused a delay. Casing has been set and cemented for some time and bailing has been in progress. In the process of bailing live oil, gas and paraffine has been encountered but the tools in the hole has hindered operations. As soon as the tools and perforated pipe has been removed it will show the discovery of Freestone County's bona fide oil strikes.

It is reported that acreage is being blocked in the Eastern and South-eastern parts of Freestone County for additional tests that tend to show the trend of activity in these portions of the county. Other inquiries are reported from outside interests relative to acreage blocks for additional tests. The Texas Company has acquired large holdings within the County.

May joy, peace and prosperity attend them.

El Paso County To Be Entirely Paved in Year

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 27.—"Every highway in El Paso county paved within a year."

That's the slogan of county commissioners, adopted to place El Paso county in the foreground of the better highways movement.

A bond issue of $1,200,000 voted recently will provide fun for making the slogan a reality. It is estimated that nearly two hundred miles of paved road will be added to El Paso county by the drive.

Mrs. Robert S. Pipkin is in Fort Worth on a visit to relatives and friends.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 27.—House Speaker McBeck harked back to the Jamestown colony days when he announced today a "no work, no pay" policy was in effect for legislators who have not attended the deliberations of the special session.

Rumor reached here that a man had been killed at Teague last night. Or running down the report it was found that the rumor was the outgrowth of a fight last night on the streets of the neighbor town. No fatalities were reported. The names of the combatants were not learned.

RADIO RECEIVING SETS

By Harry F. Dart, E. E. Compiler of the Radio Operator's Course for the International Correspondence Schools.

ARTICLE 5. REFLEX SET

The reflex set is so named because the signals intercepted and amplified by this set are directed back and amplified at a different frequency. The single-tube reflex which is considered here has one three-element electron tube which amplifies the signal as it is received at radio frequency, a crystal detector which rectifies the signal to audio frequency, and a set of transformers which feed the energy back through the one tube for further amplification. It is well to realize that such a set cannot be expected to give as good results as would a separate amplifier and detector combination, but on the other hand surprisingly good results are possible considering the small outlay of apparatus. The successful operation of this set often depends upon the relative positions of the component devices. It is very desirable, therefore, to move the parts around (transformers especially) until the operation is best.

One of the most interesting ways to use a reflex set is in connection with a loop A as shown in the circuit diagram. The 23 or 43-plate condenser B preferably with a 3-plate vernier, combined with the directional feature of the loop provides the necessary tuning, which though simple still gives good selectivity. The usual high-vacuum tube C is next in order. Here, as elsewhere, it is well to remember that for maximum signal strength and life the storage-battery tubes are preferable, but excellent results may be obtained on the standard dry-cell tubes.

The energy (or signal) is amplified in the tube at radio frequency just as though the tube and its accessories were a separate radio-frequency amplifier. The energy then passes through the primary of the radio frequency transformer D and into its secondary coil winding. The circuit of the secondary winding includes a crystal detector E by means of which the signal is rectified, and the primary of the radio-frequency transformer F. From the secondary of the transformer F the audio-frequency signal is impressed on the grid circuit where it is further amplified by the tube at audio frequency. This amplification should be quite like that secured by a separate stage of audio-frequency amplification, but it is actually more or less mixed with the radio-frequency amplification. As the radio-frequency transformer D does not appreciably affect an audio-frequency signal, the amplified energy passes through the telephone receiver G to produce audible signals. If the signal is strong enough a loud speaker may be connected in place of the head phones.

The B battery voltage should be moderately high for loud signals, say about 60 to 80 volts. The A battery H and the filament-control rheostat I should be suitable for the type of tube used. For an accurate control of the radio-frequency amplification it is well to use a potentiometer J across the A battery with the slider connected to the grid return, which is the wire from the secondary of transformer F. To prevent a useless discharge of the filament battery, and to secure accurate adjustments the potentiometer should have a high resistance, say at least 300 ohms. The potentiometer may be disconnected from the A battery at one end when the set is not in use to prevent discharging the battery slowly. A small fixed condenser K, about .001 microfarad, will generally help the operation of the set. Another small-capacity condenser L is connected across the secondary of the audio-frequency transformer F to establish a path for the radio-frequency current in the grid circuit.

Tuning is often done without the crystal detector even adjusted, as there is considerable energy passing through the circuit even without this adjustment. Then when a signal is heard, the crystal is adjusted until a good sensitive point is found. If the various adjustments of the crystal have very little effect on the signal strength, it is well to check over the wiring, and to try moving the transformers around a little. It is also important that the primary of the audio-frequency transformer is correctly connected with respect to the secondary of the radio-frequency transformer. A trial with one of the windings reversed through its connections will show the best arrangement. A .01-microfarad condenser connected across the telephone receivers and B battery as shown at M should improve the operation of the set.

Letters from People

WHY NOT?

Suppose we try it! Try what? Why, turn the public projects that should be brought to a conclusion over to the women. It seems the men are incapable of bringing anything to a head lately. On the other hand, look what the women have done and are doing.

We fooled around a year with the Y. M. C. A. and then threw up the sponge. The women out of the same subscription campaign got the money for their library, have built it and have been running it for months.

When our liberal minded and big hearted fellow citizens, J. K. Hughes, offered the city the twelve acres for a play park, provided some organization or the city, would put it in shape, it was the women who took it over. If they had not done so, I feel sure Mr. Hughes would still have his twelve acres; or if taken over by any of the men organizations, they would have "reneged" as they have with nearly everything else.

I feel sure that we would have a cotton mill project brought to a conclusion in six months, if the women took hold of it. Look at Sunday's Mexia Daily News—three gems, literary and of advanced thought on three different subjects by three different ladies of our city and not one by a man (excepting, of course, our talented and indefatigable editor of The News.)

It is not about time the men were waking up and getting a move on themselves, in all the many complex questions not only of business but of life. Above all, don't start anything without bringing it to a successful conclusion. You don't see the women lay down on any task with which they are confronted. The harder it is the harder they work and the more determined they are to succeed. Every married man can vouch for that and the unmarried men can see the results of their work.

"Three rousing cheers" for our women and the results they have obtained and are obtaining in every sphere.

If we men are unable to put forth the proper efforts to obtain results, I for one say turn over to the women. They will carry everything to a successful conclusion even if in the operation they have to "ring" our necks.

A. T. SCHULZ.

The latest statistics show that the purchasing power of a dollar is now 65c. A few years ago it was as low as 40c.

Both in your Saving and in Investing

The finest time in the world to accumulate and hold property is when it is "going cheap". This is also applicable to dollars. Accumulating and laying away 65-cent dollars is as profitable as buying Liberty Bonds at 65c on the dollar.

LIMESTONE LINK IN HIGHWAY

J. I. Riddle, a prominent business man of Mexia and a former resident of Freestone County; Ben F. Stollenwerck, secretary of the Mexia Chamber of Commerce, and Geo. H. Willets, of Mexia, were Fairfield visitors Monday, and assured our citizens of Mexia's friendly interest in the good roads campaign now on in this county. Limestone is another link in the great East and West Highway, and the road through Limestone is now hard surface—Fairfield Recorder.

Give Your Sole a Genuine Treat

You have thrown many a pair of good shoes away just because the soles were worn through. Perhaps the counters were out of shape, and the welts may have been "shot". Don't do it again. No matter what the condition of the shoe, if the upper is good we can rebuild it and make it almost like new. Perhaps there is a pair of shoes in your closet right this minute that need attention. Bring them to us and permit us to advise you. They may be saved, and many more weeks of wear put into them at very small expense. Be thrifty—have 'em repaired.

Lions Committee Gives Opportunity To Cemetery Lot Owners To Help In Paving Outside City To Burial Ground

Due to the efforts expended by a committee of Lions, headed by J. Desenberg, plans are about complete for the paving of Kaufman street to the cemetery. The city officials have agreed to pave the street to the city limits, about 1200 feet from the end of the present paving, leaving about 800 feet outside of the city limits to be paved by contributions. Knowing that many outside of Mexia who have entrusted their "dear dead" to the city to look after largely, would be of the step being taken to the cemetery, they would be willing to help in the undertaking, the Lions committee has sent out the following representing a strong appeal for financial aid, which no doubt will result in a liberal payment for this project.

When you are the owner of a lot in the Mexia Cemetery, you naturally feel a personal interest in its upkeep, beautification and matters pertaining to this cemetery of the dead. As you are no doubt aware, North Kaufman street, which is the main and only thoroughfare leading to the cemetery, is in a deplorable condition, and, at times, becomes practically impassable. Every summer, a paved street, out from the city limits to the cemetery, the distance of 2000 feet, of which 1200 feet, is within the city limits, leaving 800 feet outside the territorial limits of the city.

The Lions Club of Mexia has felt interested in this project to the extent of giving its unstinted support and endorsement and those whose names are signed hereto were appointed as a committee to push the project to completion.

The City Commission of Mexia has ordered paving of this street from Sumpter to the City limits, provided our committee succeeds in raising sufficient funds to pave from the City limits to the cemetery, and we are issuing this letter as an appeal to lot owners in the cemetery and the public at large for contributions with which to pave this remaining 800 feet. The pavement is to be 5 inches concrete topped with two inches asphalt, the same character of paving on all the paved streets of Mexia.

From estimates furnished us, we figure that this 800 feet will cost around $4,500 to $5,000, and when completed we will have a beautiful driveway right up to the cemetery gate.

We feel and believe that your interest in this laudable undertaking is such that we may expect a prompt and generous response to this appeal, and we are confidently relying on your hearty support and co-operation.

The City of the dead where repose all that is mortal of our loved ones calls for our deepest veneration and in making the contribution, we now ask you do honor to the memories of those who rest complacently and peacefully in its bosom.

Please send all contributions to J.

Desenberg, Chairman.
Respectfully submitted,
J. Desenberg, Chairman,
W. W. Barnett,
Jno. H. Sweatt,
Committee.

Izzy Einstein Is 'Right After' Ho. Bootleggers

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 27.—Izzy? Has he? Was he?

Houston bootleggers fearfully asked themselves this conundrum last week when Izzy Einstein, master pro agent, was reported to be in town.

Checking out of New Orleans after he had instilled fear in the hearts of the booze element Izzy was reported to have decided to turn his talents to Houston.

A local pro agent reported having seen Izzy in a local hotel lobby. He talked with him, he said, and then the famous rum hound slipped on one of his thousand and one disguises and disappeared.

Booze sales are reported to have been in a slump since the first rumor of Izzy's presence got around. They still are somewhat shaky, apparently reliable reports say.

For somewhere in Houston, they fear, Izzy is planning a master stroke in behalf of the dry laws.

Four In One For Orange Offender

ORANGE, Texas, Nov. 27.—Violating four statutory offenses just call a day. The sobered offender blinked his unbelief and stalked doggedly behind the deputy to the Orange county jail.

Norman Thompson imbibed too freely of "corn" and fell asleep in his car parked in the residential section of the city. A search of the car by officers revealed the remains of the corn and a revolver all of which constituted four charges Thompson must face in court.

He is charged with driving a car while intoxicated, carrying a pistol, drunkenness and transporting liquor.

SPINNERS' EGG NOODLES

Reisor's Work Stands Out For S.M.U.

At one position in the Thanksgiving Game, there is little doubt that S. M. U. holds the edge over the Baylor team in the final clash of undefeated eleven at Dallas Thursday. This is at fullback where Mustangs have Lawrence Reisor and Baylor lines up Simms. Reisor is a cousin of M. L. Lewis and Charlie Lewis of this city. He was a visitor with them immediately after S. M. U.'s triumph over A. and M. at College Station, where he starred, and has been playing spectacular football ever since in his difficult position.

If the work of any one man on the S. M. U. squad stands out this year above the field in winning the local eleven's four games it is that of Reisor. He is without a superior at backing the line and his work has consistently stopped the drive of every team launched against the Mustangs. Because of his ability as an interference runner, he has seldom been used to carry the ball this season although his line plunging against the Oklahoma Aggies was a big factor in grounds gaining. But without Reisor running interference, the backfield play is weak.

Simms of Baylor is a consistent, good football player, but his work this year can not be compared with his predecessor, Tannor, and it is not standing out with that of Coffey and Pittman in the backfield. Summerizing the work of all departments of the two teams—the end play should present a real battle with Baylor's heavier wings giving a slight advantage. At tackles, S. M. U. is better balanced with strong players on both sides of the line while Baylor lines up a great star in Williamson. Weight gives Baylor an advantage at combined guards although Payne can match Anderson. Center should be a real fight between two great mid line men. Quarter offers the same proposition. And the two backfields loom up as much on a par.

S. M. U.'s overhand has been more successful than Baylor's. But the Bears have a heavier team and this weight can not be overlooked in figuring the outcome.

The place of battle has little to do with the outcome. Playing in Dallas, the home of S. M. U. it might seem that an advantage was there. But Baylor is an old institution. Dallas is a large city and the Baylor student body will be as conspicuous in the stadium as if the game was to be played in Waco. Favorites will be pretty well divided in the big crowd that looks on.

G. O. P. Conservatives Worried Over Coolidge Politics

Leaders Feel Selling At 36c Something Must Be Done

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—President Coolidge's personal political methods have added another worry to those afflicting conservative republicans. His refusal to announce his candidacy, and his hesitancy to broaden his circle of political advisers is disappointing, and also his failure to placate protectionists and prevent what threatens to be a disordered and disorganized opening of congress. Conservatives feel that Coolidge's activities have been misdirected. Instead of turning over political situations to state leaders, he is handling them himself, which causes too much of politics on a small scale, some republicans feel. Leaders feel the same danger of protectionists, and feeling the heat of the party is still.

Football Grows In Popularity In This Country

By FRANK GETTY
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The frost tinged winds of early winter will carry the echo of a few more booming punts, a few shrill whistles and the cheers of victory and then football takes into long sleep with the alarm clock set for the fall of '24. Its rest should be peaceful as a baby's. Football is established beyond question as by far the most popular of intercollegiate sports.

The season now drawing to a close found:

1. Greater crowds than ever attending even the early games, so that stadiums proved entirely inadequate to care for them. More than a million persons attended the later games each Saturday.

2. The game's popularity in the West and Southwest surpassing all expectations, with new championship groups forming and new challengers for intercollegiate titles appearing from hitherto strange gridirons.

Old King Tut Is to Hold Open House This Year Again;
Cruise Tourists to Throng Scenes of Ancient Empires

DEATHS OF BURDEN - JERUSALEM

The interest excited by the continued discovery of marvelous treasures at the Tomb of Tutankhamen, is making Egypt the particular star of the winter traveler, and from January to March the Nile promises to be about as American as the United States. Fortunate are those who have secured hotel reservations in Cairo during the season, that is, from January to March. Among the fortunate are those who are booked by the large winter cruise steamers to the Mediterranean, for hotel space was reserved for their passengers probably a year ago.

Within the past decade the Canadian Pacific has become a great factor in ocean transportation. Its ships are the fastest on the Pacific, and by using the St. Lawrence route it has cut the time to four days on open sea for the Atlantic crossing. With wide experience in catering to a big traveling public, it has reached the very acme of good service.

The Canadian Pacific has this year selected for its Mediterranean cruise the S. S. Empress of Scotland, a palatial, oil-burning vessel of 25,000 gross tons and 677 feet long. There are twelve first class public rooms, including lounge, ballroom, card, writing and smoking rooms, besides a fine palm garden. From the first port of call at Madeira, where a ball has been arranged for the Scotland's passengers, to the short call at Cherbourg where they may choose whether to take train to Paris or continue on to Southampton, the tourists will be personally conducted through the most interesting cities of North Africa, the Holy Land, Greece, Turkey, Italy and Portugal. The tomb of Tutankhamen, the pyramids, the Holy Sepulcher, Acropolis in Athens and Coliseum and Vatican in Rome, are a very few of the famous sites that will be visited.

Mexia Welcome
New Family
From Hill
County

John T. Sanders of Hubbard, Kan., family will move to Mexia at an early date. Announcement is made that Mr. Sanders has closed a deal for the E. J. Anderson home on East Castle street, which will hereafter be the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and family. Next week is the date scheduled for their arrival here. Mr. Sanders is one of the most prominent citizens of Hill County, a sterling character who has shown in his citizenship at Hubbard that he believes that patriotism should begin at home and his contribution to progress in his section has been notable.

For a number of years he has been engaged in the cotton buying business in Hubbard and Coolidge and the splendid cotton markets there are said to have been due in no small way to his efforts. He will probably devote his attention to the same line of business here. Already possessing many friends here who have been anxious for him to move to Mexia, he and his estimable family are certain to win many more.

It will be remembered by "old timers" in this community that Mrs. Sanders was prior to her marriage Miss Bess Denning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Denning. They have one child, Johnnie, a splendid little man of nearly 4 years.

Attracted by magnificent churches, an excellent school system, modern improvements of all kinds and a hospitable citizenship, many splendid citizens are constantly moving to this place, establishing it permanently as a real home center and one of the leading cities of this section of Texas. To all of them Mexia says, "Welcome."

Torpid Liver Fills Body With Poisons—Pepsinated Calomel Guaranteed to Relieve Between Sundown and Sunup—No Nausea.

Calomel is the only medicine that will actually reach the liver, but ordinary calomel is so drastic that many have deprived themselves of its fine effects because of its harshness. This objection has been overcome in Pepsinated Calomel. Many who formerly could not take calomel are finding a most acceptable remedy in Pepsinated Calomel because it is English Calomel (which doctors recognize as the standard of purity), treated with pepsin and other soothing ingredients that not only stimulate the liver to normal action, but sweeten the stomach and aid digestion. Many report that the use of Pepsinated Calomel unclogs their systems of poisonous waste, brings back appetite, causes dullness to disappear and makes them "feel like new."

Bonnet's Drug Store and all reliable druggists recommend and guarantee Pepsinated Calomel to bring relief between sundown and sunup or your money refunded. Try it—we guarantee you'll feel better tomorrow. (Adv.)

GOOD SHOES - HOSIERY

Can't Be Fair Picking All-American.

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—There may be one good excuse for picking an all-American football team, but there are a dozen reasons against that one why the best qualified critics should not attempt the impossible task of selecting the eleven best players from eleven hundred.

The most common excuse is that: "I might as well do it, because others do it, and my judgment is just as good." Because Walter Camp gets away with it there are a hundred who try to do the same thing.

All the reasons have been pointed out many times in the past why it means nothing to name an all-American team.

It is impossible for one critic to see all the teams in action. One player looks great on Saturday and the next week he is off. Various methods employed by various coaches bring out a mediocre player and obscure a fine player. Backs of only fair ability shine because they have a great line "taken 'em out" in front of them.

Picking an all-American team is manifestly unfair to hundreds of the fine players who for mathematical reasons, cannot be named on the first team and it is only the first team that really counts.

Here's the best reason why an all-American team cannot and should not be picked.

That this team, which is advanced as an all-American eleven, is as good as many that will be picked:

- LE.—Luman, Yale.
 - LT.—Milstead, Yale.
 - LG.—Welsh, Colgate.
 - C.—Garbisch, Army.
 - RG.—Bendenk, Penn State.
 - RT.—Bach, Notre Dame.
 - RE.—McRae, Syracuse.
 - QB.—Pfann, Cornell.
 - LHB.—Grance, Illinois.

Packers Tell How Housewives Should Select Their Meat

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Sirloins, tenderloins, porterhouse steaks and rib roasts would be, comparatively, a drug on the market if housewives were only more familiar with cheaper cuts of beef, according to the National Livestock and Meat Board here.

One fourth of a carcass of dressed beef costs more retail than the other three-fourths, say the packers, and cheaper cuts are much more savory when properly prepared than expensive steaks and roasts. Rump roasts, hamburger and round steak should not be despised but exalted, the board holds.

The effort to secure "choice" cuts and not the high cost of raising, shipping, packing and marketing meat is held responsible for meat selling at 40 to 60 cents a pound. If there were more demand for "second" cuts, comparative cuts would be equalized, the board claims.

Loin and rib cuts are classified as choice. They are in most demand because they are easier to prepare rather than because of tenderness and flavor. On the other hand, shanks, rounds, rumps, flanks, chuck and brisket require longer cooking to be as palatable as the steak which can be cooked by the "busy" housewife after an afternoon of bridge. The fireless cooker is recommended to remedy that.

Nor should the heart, kidneys, liver, tongue—even the tail—be neglected. These are preferred by the epicures when properly cooked. On tail soups, liver, hearts, brains, and sweetbreads supply the needed mineral matter, according to the board, and should be included frequently in the family menu. "Iron" and "nerves" brains are synonymous, it argues.

Careful study of meat charts, personal trips to market, experimenting with "undiscovered" cuts and preparing meat in a variety of ways are recommended, both for trimming the family budget and improving the family's health.

In selecting the best meat, the board's bulletin offers the following guide:

Four Special Trains To Carry Texas University Students To Thanksgiving Game at A. & M.

Members of the ex-student association of the University of Texas in the section have received the following instructions and information regarding the day to be spent in College Station Thursday.

Thanksgiving Rally at College Station.

The four special trains from Austin are scheduled to roll into College Station at 11:30 a. m., Thanksgiving Day. Led by the famous Longhorn Band and Cowboys, the student body and Faculty will march directly to Texas headquarters in Guion Hall, on the east side of the campus, near Kyle Field. Here the students will seat themselves in the gallery while the Exes will occupy the main auditorium.

—all coming for a final get-together rally. Judge D. C. Bland, president of the Exes, will preside and "Shorty" Mayer will lead the yell.

The following program will be carried out:

1. Touchdown Speech by President W. S. Sutton, 6 minutes (and no more.)
2. Kick for goal. Yells, "Shorty" Mayer and others, 1 minute.
3. Touchdown Speech, Cecil Chamberlin (for the students), 6 minutes (and no more.)
4. Salute as No. 2, 1 minute.
5. Touchdown Speech—old-time and fiery alumni, 6 minutes (and no more.)
6. Same as Nos. 2 and 4, 1 minute.
7. The "Eyes of Texas" (Goal from field)—everybody, 3 minutes.

Total—24 minutes.

Guion Hall is a very large auditorium. The stage and ante-rooms in rear of the building are being reserved for the women, while the basement in front contains wash-rooms, etc., for men. President Bizzell and Com-mandant Ike Ashburn have kindly provided additional chairs, tables and other comforts for the spacious entry of the building and also on the shaded sward in front. In addition, a lunch stand will be run for those who prefer to snatch a hasty meal before or after the game.

President Bland and other Ex-Student officers will be in charge of an information bureau and a register where it is hoped that every Ex-Student visitor will inscribe his name. Here at Guion Hall will be the best place to look for some University friend you haven't seen for a long time.

Many visitors will bring their lunches—not a bad plan, for the biggest crowd that has ever been on the A. & M. campus will gather there on this Thanksgiving Day. Come on, and don't fail to attend the rally. Those Exes who wish to know in advance about the result of the game are referred to Coach Bible of the A. & M. and Coach Stewart of the University. Judging from newspaper report-team is made up of a bunch of crit-ples.

Massive New Tower of Commerce to Pierce the Chicago Skyline

A sky-piercing tower, is about to rise among the huge structures of Chicago. It is the new fifteen million dollar Straus building on Michigan avenue and Jackson boulevard which will be completed about March 1 and ready for occupancy two months later. The main shaft of the massive towering structure will rise to a height of twenty-two stories. Then it will carry a ten-story tower centered on Michigan avenue. The structure will take the form of a hollow square, built around the perimeter of the lot with an inside light court surrounded by offices. The best examples of Florentine architecture will be followed. The building will be a beautiful Indiana limestone of which the nation's most artistic and imposing banks and office buildings are constructed. On the Michigan avenue side the center section, about 80 feet across, will be set back two or three feet from the line of the corner sections and carried up into the great tower. This set-back will break the Michigan avenue front, adding a note of distinction. There will be 400,000 square feet of rentable office space besides the six floors occupied by S. W. Straus & Co., the owners. The giant structure, of which Graham, Anderson, Probst & White are the architects, will be the largest building on the superb Michigan avenue skyline, and one of the finest examples of office building architecture in the world.

OIL

Freestone County's "simon-pure" wildcat well—the Thad McLain No. 1 Green cemented casing Monday using the seventy two hour "quick set." This well has been showing considerable gas and after bailing it was thought best to cement for safety's sake. Drilling in will be begun the latter part of the week.

The Keechi Petroleum Company in their Pickens No. 1 20 miles east of Teague continues to look very promising. This well is in the Pruitt survey in Freestone County and is the second test drilled by this company. The No. 1 Pickens is reported at about 3800 feet with considerable showing of oil, gas and paraffine. Trouble with tools in the hole has caused a delay. Casing has been set and cemented for some time and bailing has been in progress. In the process of bailing live oil, gas and paraffine has been encountered but the tools in the hole has hindered operations. As soon as the tools and perforated pipe has been removed it will show the discovery of Freestone County's bona fide oil strikes.

It is reported that acreage is being blocked in the Eastern and Southeastern parts of Freestone County for additional tests that tend to show the trend of activity in these portions of the county. Other inquiries are reported from outside interests relative to acreage blocks for additional tests. The Texas Company has acquired large holdings within the County.

RADIO RECEIVING SETS

By Harry F. Dart, E. E. Compiler of the Radio Operator's Course for the International Correspondence Schools.

ARTICLE 5. REFLEX SET

The reflex set is so named because the signals intercepted and amplified by this set are directed back and amplified at a different frequency. The single-tube reflex which is considered here has one three-element electron tube which amplifies the signal as it is received at radio frequency, a crystal detector which rectifies the signal to audio frequency, and a set of transformers which feed the energy back through the one tube for further amplification. It is well to realize that such a set cannot be expected to give as good results as would a separate amplifier and detector combination, but on the other hand surprisingly good results are possible considering the small outlay of apparatus. The successful operation of this set often depends upon the relative positions of the component devices. It is very desirable, therefore, to move the parts around (transformers especially) until the operation is best.

One of the most interesting ways to use a reflex set is in connection with a loop A as shown in the circuit diagram. The 23 or 43-plate condenser B preferably with a 3-plate vernier, combined with the directional feature of the loop provides the necessary tuning, which though simple still gives good selectivity. The usual high-vacuum tube C is next in order. Here, as elsewhere, it is well to remember that for maximum signal strength and life the storage-battery tubes are preferable, but excellent results may be obtained on the standard dry-cell tubes.

The energy (or signal) is amplified in the tube at radio frequency just as though the tube and its accessories were a separate radio-frequency amplifier. The energy then passes through the primary of the radio frequency transformer D and into its secondary coil winding. The circuit of the secondary winding includes a crystal detector E by means of which the signal is rectified, and the primary of the radio-frequency transformer F. From the secondary of the transformer F the audio-frequency signal is impressed on the grid circuit where it is further amplified by the tube at audio frequency. This amplification should be quite like that secured by a separate stage of audio-frequency amplification, but it is actually more or less mixed with the radio-frequency amplification. As the radio-frequency transformer D does not appreciably affect an audio-frequency signal, the amplified energy passes through the telephone receiver's G to produce audible signals. If the signal is strong enough a loud speaker may be connected in place of the head phones.

The B battery voltage should be moderately high for loud signals, say about 60 to 80 volts. The A battery H and the filament control rheostat I should be suitable for the type of tube used. For an accurate control of the radio-frequency amplification it is well to use a potentiometer J across the A battery with the slider connected to the grid return, which is the wire from the secondary of transformer F. To prevent a useless discharge of the filament battery, and to secure accurate adjustments the potentiometer should have a high resistance, say at least 300 ohms. The potentiometer may be disconnected from the A battery at one end when the set is not in use to prevent discharging the battery slowly. A small fixed condenser K, about .001 microfarad, will generally help the operation of the set. Another small-capacity condenser L is connected across the secondary of the audio-frequency transformer F to establish a path for the radio-frequency current in the grid circuit.

Tuning is often done without the crystal detector even adjusted, as there is considerable energy passing through the circuit even without this adjustment. Then when a signal is heard, the crystal is adjusted until a good sensitive point is found. If the various adjustments of the crystal have very little effect on the signal strength it is well to check over the wiring, and to try moving the transformers around a little. It is also important that the primary of the audio-frequency transformer is correctly connected with respect to the secondary of the radio-frequency transformer. A trial with one of the windings reversed through its connections will show the best arrangements. A .01-microfarad condenser connected across the telephone receivers and B battery as shown at M should improve the operation of the set.

Letters from People

WHY NOT?

Suppose we try it! Try what? Why, turn the public projects that should be brought to a conclusion over to the women. It seems the men are incapable of bringing anything to a head lately. On the other hand, look what the women have done and are doing.

We fooled around a year with the Y. M. C. A. and then threw up the sponge. The women out of the same subscription campaign got the money for their library, have built it and have been running it for months.

When our liberal minded and big hearted fellow citizens, J. K. Hughes, offered the city the twelve acres for a play park, provided some organization or the city, would put it in shape, it was the women who took it over. If they had not done so, I feel sure Mr. Hughes would still have his twelve acres; or if taken over by any of the men organizations, they would have "renigged" as they have with nearly everything else.

I feel sure that we would have a cotton mill project brought to a conclusion in six months, if the women took hold of it. Look at Sunday's Mexia Daily News, three gems, literary and of advanced thought on three different subjects by three different ladies of our city and not one by a man (excepting of course, our talented and indefatigable editor of The News.)

It is not about time the men were waking up and getting a move on themselves, in all the many complex questions not only of business but of life. Above all, don't start anything without bringing it to a successful conclusion.

You don't see the women lay down

You have thrown many a pair of good shoes away just because the soles were worn through. Perhaps the counters were out of shape, and the welts may have been "shot". Don't do it again. Lions Committee Gives Opportunity To Cemetery Lot Owners To Help In Paving Outside City To Burial Ground

Due to the efforts expended by a committee of Lions, headed by J. Desenberg, plans are about complete for the paving of Kaufman street to the cemetery. The city officials have agreed to pave the street to the city limits, about 1200 feet from the end of the present paving, leaving about 800 feet outside of the city limits to be paved by contributions. Knowing that many outside of Mexia who have entrusted their "dear dead" to this city to look after largely would be of the step being taken to the cemetery, they would be willing to help in the undertaking, the Lions committee has sent out the following representing a strong appeal for financial aid, which no doubt will result in a liberal payment for this purpose.

As much as you are the owner of a lot in the Mexia Cemetery, you can quite naturally feel a personal interest in its upkeep, beautification and matters pertaining to this sacred city of the dead. As you are now aware, North Kaufman street, which is the main and only thoroughfare leading to the cemetery, is in a deplorable condition, and at times becomes practically impassable. Sumpter, a paved street, out to the cemetery, the distance of 2000 feet, of which 1200 feet, within the city limits, leaving 800 feet outside the territorial limits of the city.

The Lions Club of Mexia has felt interested in this project to the extent of giving it their unstinted support and endorsement and those whose names are signed hereto were appointed as a committee to push the work to completion. The City Commission of Mexia has ordered pavement of this street from Sumpter to the City limits, provided our committee succeeds in raising sufficient funds to pave from the City limits to the cemetery, and we are issuing this letter as an appeal to lot owners in the cemetery and the public at large for contributions with which to pave this remaining 800 feet. The pavement is to be 5 inches concrete topped with two inches asphalt, the same character of paving on all the paved streets of Mexia.

From estimates furnished us, we figure that this 800 feet will cost around $4,500 to $5,000, and when completed we will have a beautiful driveway right up to the cemetery gate.

We feel and believe that your interest in this laudable undertaking is such that we may expect a prompt and generous response to this appeal, and we are confidently relying on your hearty support and co-operation.

The City of the dead where repose all that is mortal of our loved ones calls for our deepest veneration and in making the contribution, we now ask you do honor to the memories of those who rest complacently and peacefully in its bosom.

Please send all contributions to J.

Desenberg, Chairman. Respectfully submitted, J. Desenberg, Chairman, W. W. Barnett, Jno. H. Sweatt, Committee.

Izzy Einstein Is 'Right' After Ho. Bootleggers

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 27.—Izzy? Has he? Was he?

Houston bootleggers fearfully asked themselves this conundrum last week when Izzy Einstein, master pro agent, was reported to be in town.

Checking out of New Orleans after he had instilled fear in the hearts of the booze element Izzy was reported to have decided to turn his talents to Houston.

A local pro agent reported having seen Izzy in a local hotel lobby. He talked with him, he said, and then the famous rum hound slipped on one of his thousand and one disguises and disappeared.

Booze sales are reported to have been in a slump since the first rumor of Izzy's presence got around. They still are somewhat shaky, apparently reliable reports say.

For somewhere in Houston, they fear, Izzy is planning a master stroke in behalf of the dry laws.

Four In One For Orange Offender

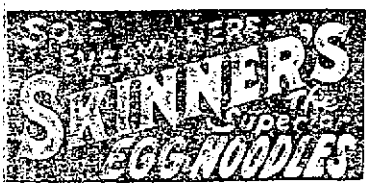

ORANGE, Texas, Nov. 27.—Violating four statutory offenses just call a day. The sobered offender blinked his disbelief and stalked doggedly behind the deputy to the Orange county jail.

Norman Thompson imbibed too freely of "corn" and fell asleep in his car parked in the residential section of the city. A search of the car by officers revealed the remains of the corn and a revolver all of which constituted four charges Thompson must face in court.

He is charged with driving a car while intoxicated, carrying a pistol, drunkenness and transporting liquor.

Reisor's Work Stands Out For S.M.U.

At one position in the Thanksgiving Game, there is little doubt that S. M. U. holds the edge over the Baylor team in the final clash of undefeated elevens at Dallas Thursday. This is at fullback where Mustangs have Lawrence Reisor and Baylor lines up Simms. Reisor is a cousin of L. L. Lewis and Charlie Lewis of this city. He was a visitor with them immediately after S. M. U.'s triumph over A. and M. at College Station, where he starred, and has been playing spectacular football ever since in his difficult position.

If the work of any one man on the S. M. U. squad stands out this year above the field in winning the local eleven's four games it is that of Reisor. He is without a superior at backing the line and his work has consistently stopped the drive of every team launched against the Mustangs. Because of his ability as an interference runner, he has seldom been used to carry the ball this season although his line plunging against the Oklahoma Aggies was a big factor in grounds gaining. But without Reisor running interference, the backfield play is weak.

Simms of Baylor is a consistent, good football player, but his work this year can not be compared with his predecessor, Tanner, and it is not standing out with that of Coffey and Pittman in the backfield. Summarizing the work of all departments of the two teams—the end play should present a real battle with Baylor's heavier wings giving a slight advantage. At tackles, S. M. U. is better balanced with strong players on both sides of the line while Baylor lines up a great star in Williamson. Weight gives Baylor an advantage at combined guards although Payne can match Anderson. Center should be a real fight between two great mid line men. Quarter offers the same proposition. And the two backfields loom up as much on a par.

S. M. U.'s overhead has been more successful than Baylor's. But the Bears have a heavier team and this weight can not be overlooked in figuring the outcome.

The place of battle has little to do with the outcome. Playing in Dallas, the home of S. M. U., it might seem that an advantage was due here. But Baylor is an old institution. Dallas is a large city and the Baylor student body will be as conspicuous in the stadium as if the game was to be played in Waco. Favorites will be pretty well divided in the big crowd that looks on.
